Stage 3 Water Conservation Measures Rescinded for the South Slokan Water System

Nelson, BC: The Regional District of Central Kootenay (RDCK) is pleased to announce, effective immediately, Stage 3 Water Conservation Measures have been rescinded for the South Slokan Water System.

On October 4, Stage 3 Water Emergency Conservation measures were issued in the South Slokan Water System due to low source water flows and to facilitate adequate night-time reservoir filling and recovery. Two intake leaks were located and repaired, and source water levels have now recovered.

The RDCK appreciates South Slokan water users' cooperation and patience during this time and apologizes for the inconvenience experienced.
