1. OVERVIEW & PURPOSE OF THIS PLAN

The Neighbourhood Emergency Preparedness Plan was developed by community members, for use by the residents in order to enhance their resiliency.

It is intended to be an 'all-hazards' plan - the plan is designed to apply to any kind of hazard that may affect the community. However, as part of the development process, the authors did take into account the types of hazard likely to affect the area, as a way to analyze the community resources available and the emergency measures required.

The plan includes activities designed to guide residents in:

Preparing for emergencies,

Mitigating hazards,

What they should do during an active emergency response, and

How they will plan to support one another in order to recover from the impacts of an emergency.
